Advantage Insurance Advisory on Recent Cyber Security Activity

March 26, 2018

Recently, the Advantage Insurance Inc. corporate website www.advantagelife.com was copied and adapted by a fictitious insurance company calling itself “Cargo Guardian”. We believe this pirating of the Advantage website is part of a malicious attempt by cyber criminals to obtain financial account and personal identity information of Advantage’s clients, partners and service providers. Advantage is advising all of its clients and associated service partners to be suspicious of any unusual communication, including emails, texts and telephone calls, purported to be from Advantage Insurance or “Cargo Guardian”. Any communication purportedly from Advantage requesting personal identification or financial account information is highly likely to be part of this or other fraud attempts. Advantage requests that any client or service partner who experiences suspected identity theft in connection with their Advantage insurance policy contact us promptly, so that timely information can be relayed to the law enforcement organizations investigating this criminal activity. Cyber security incidents may be reported to your Advantage client services representative or to Mary Herms, Director of Investor Relations at m.herms@advantagelife.com or +1 (787) 705-2900 x1334.
