Advantage Insurance Inc., whose business insurance subsidiary is now a leading independent captive management firm, has announced its promotion of Christina Kindstedt to the position of President of Advantage Insurance Management (USA) LLC.

After fourteen years with the world's third largest insurance brokerage firm where she built and led its RRG Practice, Christina Kindstedt joined Advantage Insurance in 2017 to open its office in Vermont, now the world's biggest captive domicile. From this new beginning, she has built a team of seasoned professionals to form and manage all types of alternative risk transfer vehicles whose total annual premium exceed $3 billion. Her team's clientele ranges from Fortune 200 to non-profits and everything in between. For the number of captives under management in Vermont, the few firms that outrank Advantage are either owned by or affiliated with the largest brokers or insurers in the world, making Advantage truly the leading independent captive manager.

"We recognize Christina's contribution and are thrilled to give her an elevated platform to do more." said Advantage's CEO William C. Buell. "With her new responsibility to develop and execute growth strategies, we expect Christina to replicate her past successes and take Advantage to the next level in the alternative risk transfer industry."

Advantage Insurance, Inc., through its operating subsidiaries, specializes in providing customized insurance products and services for clients all over the world. Founded in 1993, Advantage serves over 700 insurance clients, administers over $4.9 billion of insurance assets and manages $3 billion of annual insurance premium from its offices in Puerto Rico, Bermuda, Cayman Islands, and the US.
